Man lives among others

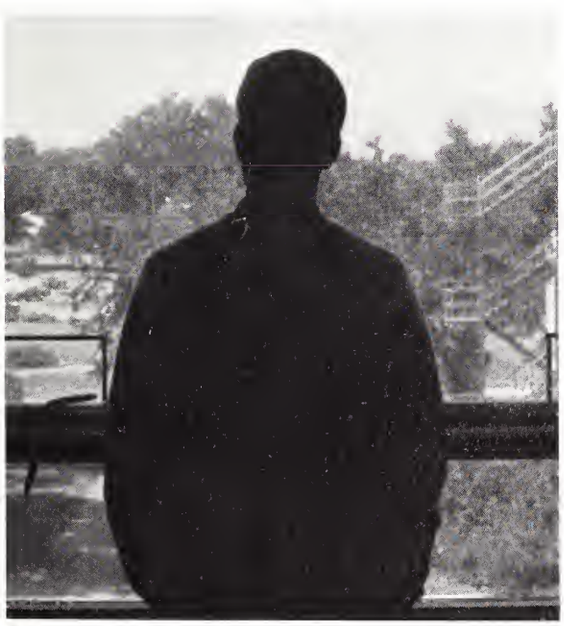
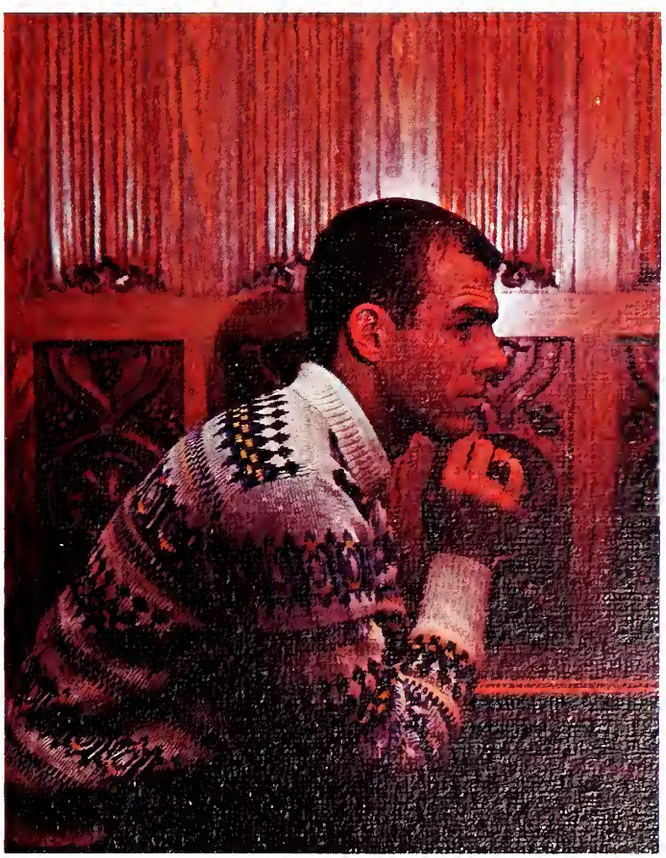
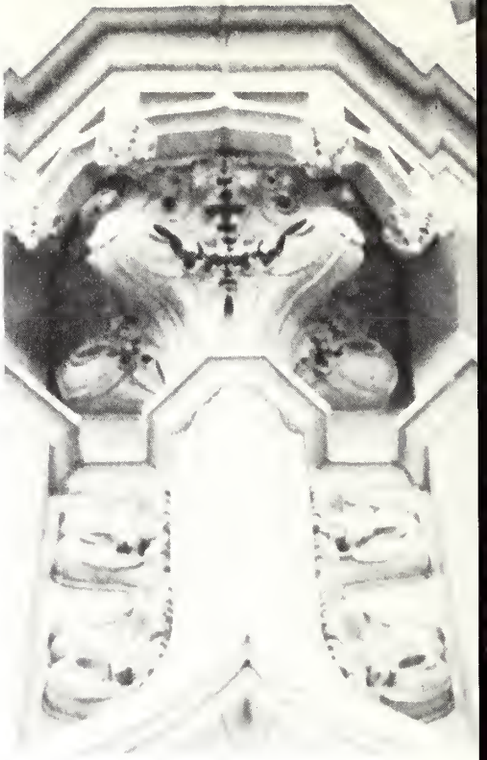
and perhaps even for others, but he alone may fashion his dreams . . .





. . . and determine his goals.



In solitude,
his most valuable gifts
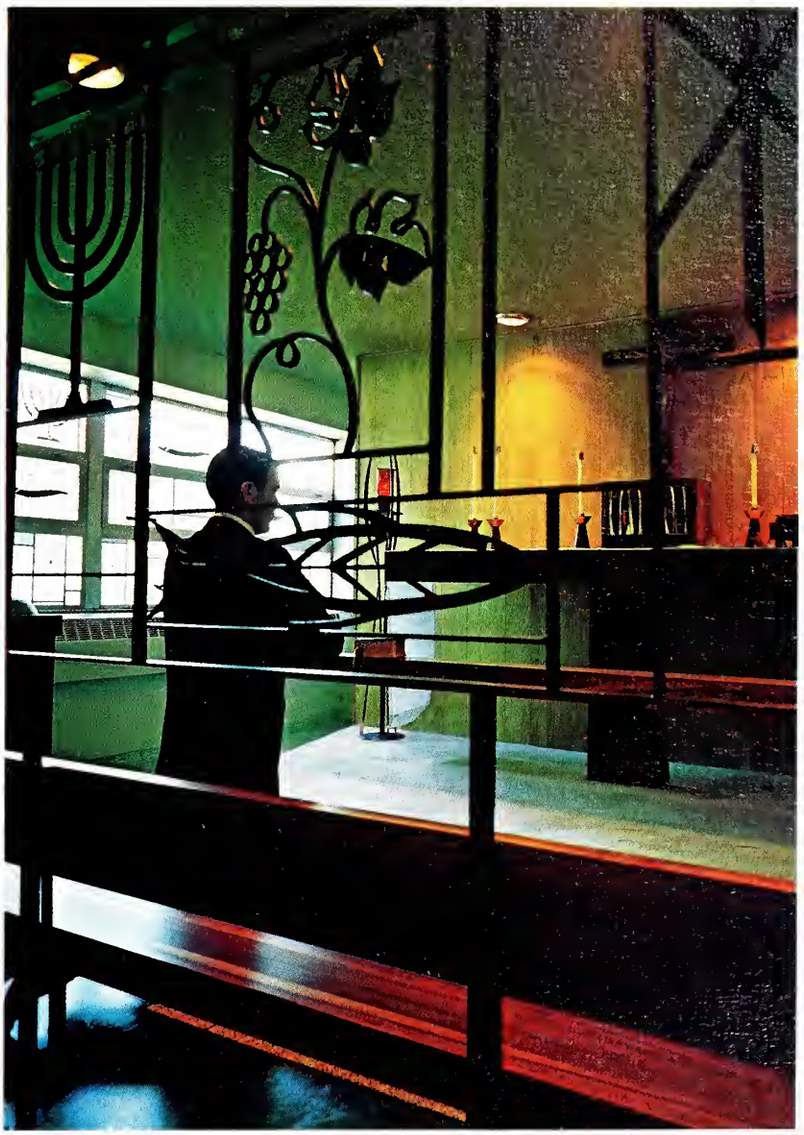
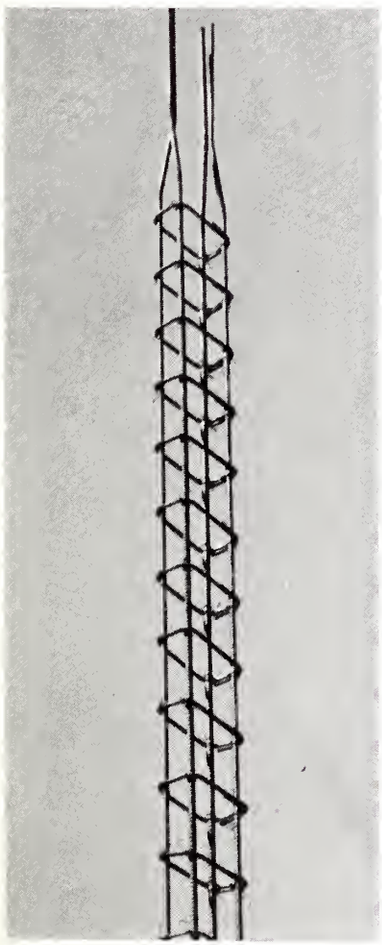
are revealed.





In Brotherhood . . .
the gift of understanding,
and the gift of wisdom.

And so to live his life and attain his goals.

REGIS COLLEGE
DENVER 21, COLORADO
GENESEE 3-6565
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

May 23, 1966

Dear Regis College Graduates,

The purposes and ideals of Regis College are clearly set forth in official publications of the College. The students of Regis College share these purposes and ideals, for each student freely chose to seek his collegiate education at this institution. And while none has yet completely achieved the fulfillment of purpose or ideal we hold in common, the faculty and administration of Regis College hope all will find the pathways of fulfillment and the motivation to inspire each of us to a lifelong striving for the intellectual and moral maturity which become the true Christian product of Christian education.

We think you graduates of Regis College will be tested, in one sense, by the kind of questions you will ask -- not the overt but the covert questions -- not just those you teach and preach, but those you live. Naturally you will question your own maturation by questioning the kind of personality and character you are constantly forming and the kind of society you are forming. In seeking justice in all and for all, you will question your personal commitment to human solidarity . . . . as shown forth in world-wide dedication and sense of service. An abiding sense of transcendence will make you constantly reach out toward Wisdom Itself, Who is God, and in your consummation, we pray you have the ultimate fulfillment of inquiry and seeking truth and good -- the possession of the Beatific Vision of God.

Sincerely,

Richard F. Ryan, S. J.

The policies and functions of Regis College are not formulated by chance or coincidence. Rather a group of highly dedicated and trained personnel constituting the administrative staff constantly endeavor to originate current and future policies at Regis. It is through their efforts that Regis remains one of the top colleges in this region.

These administrative officials, working in conjunction with the president's office, outline goals and procedures which will affect the students, the college, and the entire area. Within their own department or as a unit they instigate the extensive plans for campus development, student welfare, and educational policies. The students, the college and the state are deeply indebted to their efficient and creative handling of this responsibility.

A strong and capable Student Government is indispensable to the well-being and efficient operation of an institution. Yet, the Student Government is only as strong as the individuals who compose it and the support it receives from the student body.

In reality each of us is a part of the Student Government. These men are our representatives and leaders chosen by us because of their past record of service and responsibility.

The Presidents' Council is a committee made up of the Presidents of all the organizations on campus. It was formed to improve the co-ordinating of events and for a closer co-operation of the organizations on campus. The theory is that if the leaders of organizations get together and communicate, many conflicts will be avoided. Instead of individual clubs working at odds with each other, they can unite to better the Regis community with concrete action.

The Ranger

A year ago this spring the annual conference of the Rocky Mountain Press Association was held on the Regis campus. The Ranger served as host at this conference which was attended by schools from all over the Rocky Mountain area.

As a result of the conference Regis saw the importance of having an outstanding yearbook. In our book this year we have experienced a tremendous number of changes and new additions. In general, the whole book has been revised and emendated.

This change and improvement that we notice throughout the book is due to the editors and staff members. We don't know what words would express our gratitude for their many long and tedious hours spent, their diligent effort and their introduction of many and varied unprecedented ideas.

Denver Club

"There but for fortune goes a day-hop."

This year the Denver Club has been contributing not only to the school but also to a national cause. They have accomplished this by circulating petitions in favor of the United States' role in Viet Nam. They were also successful in soliciting students to give blood to be sent to Viet Nam.

This club is also concerned with the members social life. They fulfill this with many well planned parties and social events.

Again this year as in the past the Denver Club is working for closer ties and cooperation between the boarders and day-hops.

Biology Club

Treasurer: J. Figlino; Moderator: Mr. Taylor; Secretary: J. Gregory; Moderator: Dr. Earle; President: T. Kuforiji; Vice President: P. Quinley.

The Biology Club is a new organization on campus this year. Under the leadership of Tony Kuforiji they have launched a program of lectures and speeches for the members and the school. Interest is high among the members in this first year and there is a promise of better things to come.

The stated goals of the club are furnishing speakers, holding discussions, and in general promoting the study of biology among its members.

Student Ambassador: J. McMullem; Program Director: B. Holden; Student Ambassador: P. Rohan; Student Ambassador: D. Dierks.

The International Relations Club, in the past year, took on a new project. The People to People program was initiated as a positive, active fulfillment of the stated aims and purposes of this organization. The aims of I.R.C. are the fostering of better relations between the United States and foreign countries. This was accomplished in the past by sponsoring speeches, discussions, and study groups of foreign countries on the Regis Campus. The People to People program moved toward the same goal of understanding, but did it by sending ambassadors to foreign countries during the summer, representing the International Relations Club, Regis College, and the youth of the United States. The three ambassadors this past summer came back with experiences which were helpful not only to themselves but to the I.R.C. and Regis as a whole. This program was such a success that the Director of Ambassadors, Bill Holden, and the President of the I.R.C. said that it is full steam ahead for next summer and the goal is even a larger number of students to be sent abroad.

The purpose of the Saint John Berchmans Society is to promote and further intelligent participation in the liturgy of the Catholic Church. By assisting as servers at some fifty Masses offered daily on campus and by supplying the students with Dialogue Mass Leaders and ushers, members of the society, as well as the congregation, acquire a deeper appreciation of the Holy Mass in daily life. The society's example of unselfish perseverance and determination directly influences spiritual life on campus.

The society does not hold regular meetings, however at the meetings, various speakers discuss the important aspects of Church liturgy. The operation of the Society is handled by a board, composed of four Directors, who are elected by members of the organization. The Board is advised and guided by Fr. Maginnis, moderator of the Society.

. . . . . one of the largest and best known organizations on the Regis campus. The I.R.A. continued to foster the traditions and spirit of the Irish again this year. Adhering to its threefold purpose of providing social and spiritual benefits to its members and public service to the community, the Irish Club sponsored a healthy calendar of events such as the annual Hayrack Ride, the Orphans' Halloween Party, communion breakfasts and others climaxed by the traditional St. Patrick's Day Parade at Duffy's and the Charity Ball.

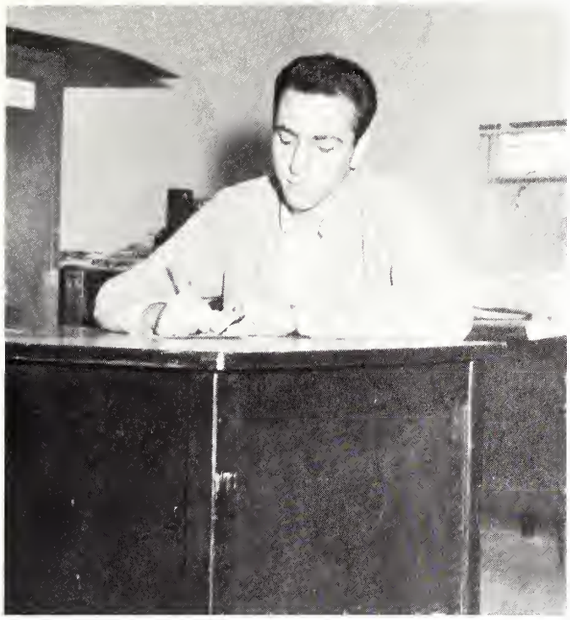
Brown & Gold

Circulation Editor: M. Whitaker

A year ago the Brown & Gold changed their format and tried something unheard of on the Regis College campus before. They offered to the students a sounding board and an editorial stand on the various controversial issues which often exist on a college campus. In other words, they offered a newspaper to Regis. To say they met resistance and disagreement on their editorial views is an understatement but irrelevant. The important thing is that they took a stand and started and directed discussion which before echoed aimlessly and uselessly in the dorm and Student Center. This is the function (or should be) of any newspaper on any campus. In this they succeeded.

Hampered by a small staff, the B & G tries and succeeds to report in an excellent journalistic way, the various newsworthy happenings on campus.



Not only are writing skills and journalistic ability needed for a consistent Brown & Gold, but there are certain jobs that boil down to just plain work. Vince Zarlengo (upper left picture), Business Manager, and Vic Martin (lower left picture), Managing Editor, are called on often, when deadlines are drawing close, to lay out in addition to their other jobs. Staffer Pat Gilland (lower right picture), proofreads copy and various other things. Photographer Jack Peluse's (upper right picture) only satisfaction for long hours, in the dark room and out, is seeing good quality pictures in every edition of the Brown & Gold.

Affording its members the opportunity for mature social development, with the understanding that such a growth is an integral element of liberal education, the Regis Italian Club endeavors to instill in its members the irrepressible Italian spirit of responsible camaraderie. While primarily providing its members the means for social development, the Italian Club openly offers its help and cooperation both to the administration and to other campus organizations. Decidedly non-sectarian, pledging full equality to Sicilian and Eskimo alike.

The Members of the R Club are a group of dedicated athletes, willing to devote their time, energy, and spirit to their school.

The club furnishes social activities for its members, keeping in mind that they are all in training and must watch what they eat and drink. Another main function of this club is the operating of a concession stand during athletic events held in the field house. Also, the R Club serves as a status symbol for its members.

Thus the R Club plays the double role of rewarding and thanking those who have represented the school in all phases of intercollegiate sports.

The main purpose of Siger is sponsoring weekend trips to nearby winter sports areas as often as possible. Aspen, Brekenridge, Vail, Arapahoe, were all popular with the members.

Requirement for membership takes some amount of courage and ambition. How much? Enough zeal to rise with the sun for the frequent excursions into Colorado's Winter Wonderland and enough courage to face thousands of pairs of form fitting stretch pants found at every ski area.

Guest speakers, authorities in their own right on skiing and related activities, highlight the meetings of this organization with penetrating comments on the nuances and techniques gleaned from their days of action on the slopes. Visual aids have long been the strong point of Siger's recruiting program. "Flicks" illustrating in glorious color the action of the slopes and the warm atmosphere to be enjoyed in the lodge after the day is done attracts the prospective members as perhaps no other method could. At any rate, Siger has been very successful in acquainting the Regis student body with that great Colorado pastime—Skiing.

The Aquinas Academy answered the call to satisfy the students' appetite for visual art this year. They put on a series of European art films including among others, "The Walls of Malapaga." Father Klocker and the philosophy buffs then gathered to discuss the movies from various angles. These discussions evoked a genuine interest from all concerned and opened new horizons for the budding thomists. This all goes to prove that "there is no ism like Thomism."

The Student National Education Association is affiliated with the National Education Association. The Colbrick chapter at Regis has as its function the introduction to the student in the organization of the goals, aims, methods, and areas of advancement which are presently active in the field of education.

Realizing this year their responsibility to Regis, the organization took on a program of service to the school. Included in this program was the sponsoring of a queen candidate.

Benchwarmers

What inning is this, little friend?

The 'warmers are the only organization on campus who are chartered to make noise and raise hell. Even though they are number one and only, they try harder each year. Under more than capable leadership this year, the 'warmers set out to foster and promote spirit and backing for Regis' athletic teams. Cheerleaders are supplied for basketball through the Benchwarmers and enthusiastic, spirited fans for the other sports are supplied.

They come off the bench during intramurals every year to field several teams for every sport. This is so anyone who wants, regardless of ability, has a chance to play.

The center of much controversy and the winner of last years "Most Outstanding Organization," the St. Thomas More Society this year has taken a more conservative and less effective course. This organization for pre-law students, complements the education they receive at Regis with what they will need as well rounded, educated, Catholic lawyers.

Members of the Debate and Oratory Club represented Regis in debate, impromtu speaking, extemporaneous speaking, oral interpretation, and original oratory at the tournaments held in the Rocky Mountain area. The society also held the Regis College Oratorical Contest for the benefit of the entire student body.

Offering its services to various high schools in the area for judging and coaching, the members of the society have striven to build a strong, active organization to represent Regis College.

Undaunted by student apathy, faculty non-support, and an imaginary budget, the musically minded of Regis revived the defunct glee club under a new name. "The Campus Minority" carries on for their own satisfaction and Regis' betterment. This organization, which on any other campus would be taken for granted, is fighting every step of the way to become established on the Regis campus. Sad but not without hope, they feel that there is an enthusiasm within the group that can't help but spread. There is a promise of better things to come.

The brothers of Rho Chi Sigma are bonded together by a common interest in medicine, or related fields. Toward this end they sponsored speakers for the school and the fraternity on chemistry and biology. Many of the brothers undertook individual research projects in conjunction with the fraternity and the chemistry department this past year.

Realizing that all work and no play isn't a good policy either, the brothers participated in service projects for the school and community. Communion breakfasts are held regularly. They also sponsored a very successful rally which is to become an annual affair. The dance sponsored by Rho Chi Sigma on Ranger Day, was complete with live go-go girls and led to speculation that maybe these budding scientists had missed their true avocation.

Alpha Delta Gamma

Alpha Delta Gamma, a national Catholic social fraternity, was chosen number one social fraternity on the campuses they are on by the College Survey Bureau, this past year. Iota chapter was named the most improved chapter at the national convention last summer.

With these awards in mind they set out on a program of service, social, and religious activities for the members.

The Halloween Dance and the Coronation Ball are social activities sponsored by the brothers for the school.

Communion breakfasts are held periodically for the brothers. A strong contender every year for the intramural trophy, they field more than one team for all the sports on campus.

To produce liberally educated, Catholic gentlemen, is the Delt's aim and purpose.

Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional business fraternity, stands out on the Regis Campus and nationally. At the national convention, which the Regis chapter hosted in Denver this past summer, they were given an award as the oustanding chapter in the one hundred and forty chapter national organization. The brothers work in a fraternal spirit to achieve goals both fraternal and schoolwide. They can be seen in any number of activities on the campus offering intelligent direction and enthusiastic support. They have sponsored numerous worthwhile activities on the campus this past year, viz., Crippled Childrens' Drive, March of Dimes, lectures on business and subjects of national importance. The Presentation Ball is an annual affair for the school sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi. They have been in the forefront in practically every activity, academic, spiritual, and co-curricular. Alpha Kappa Psi can be summed up in one word—Leadership!

Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities

Recognition by WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES means that the student was first officially recommended from the university or college he attends and then accepted by the organization. Nominating committees consider the student's scholarship, his leadership and cooperation in educational and extra-curricular activities, his general citizenship, and his promise for future usefulness.

The thirteen seniors and two juniors who merited this award this year are examples of the outstanding college student. They show by their untiring strivings that they wish to be not ordinary people in a world full of those who want to "just get by," but rather, to be leaders in our modern world. We at Regis are proud of these fellow students and congratulate them for a job well done.

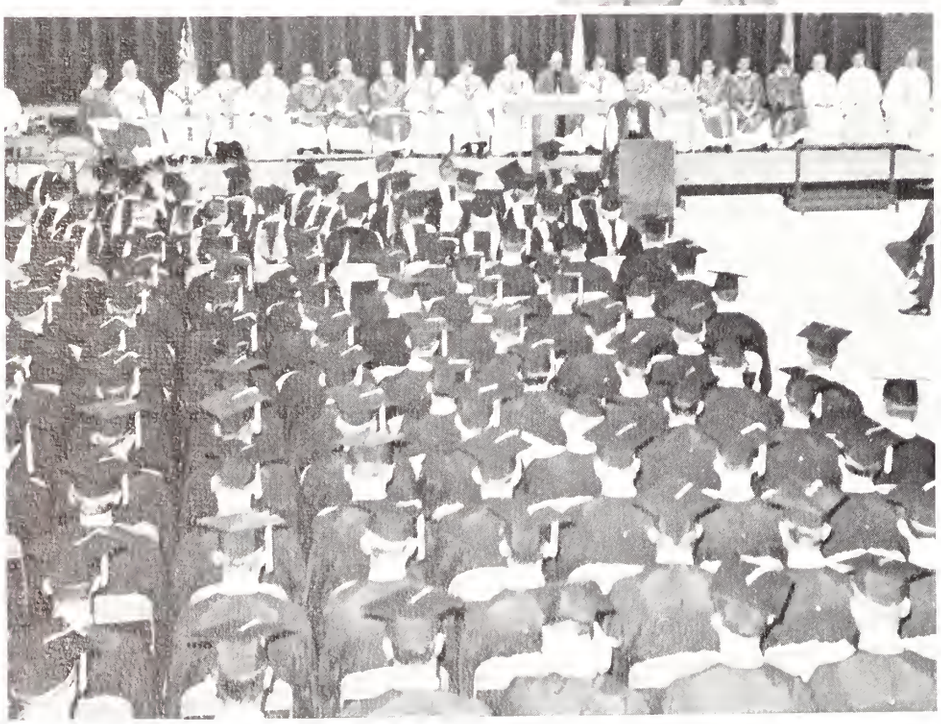
Mass of the Holy Spirit

On September twenty-second a twenty-four priest concelebration of the Mass of the Holy Spirit highlighted convocation ceremonies, as Regis officially began its eighty-eighth academic year.

Approximately fifteen hundred students and faculty members participated in the first public concelebration in which the entire high school and college worshipped together.

The Very Reverend Richard F. Ryan, S.J., President of Regis College was the chief celebrant of the Mass.



The sermon was delivered by the Right Reverend Monsignor Richard M. Duffy, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Fort Collins. He praised the training given by the Jesuits, stressing the opportunity such a background gives the student in disciplining himself to take full advantage of his God-given talents.

He went on to warn the student body of the dangers of intellectual egotism: "Young men with a sense of pride feel they do not need Almighty God, or spiritual direction. At this crucial point in your lives, you do need direction, more than at any other time."

Faculty Convocation

On the afternoon of the twenty-second of September Dr. Joseph R. Smiley, President of the University of Colorado, was the main speaker at the Faculty Convocation of Regis College.

His theme being "The Changing Scene in Higher Education" he admitted to a fear of the dulling of incentives to teach on the college level. He alluded to the trend of Ph.D. holders to enter industrial fields, leaving fewer doctors engaged in classroom teaching. Dr. Smiley also spoke for a continued effort to maintain a balance of disciplines in academic programs and an equilibrium between teaching and research.

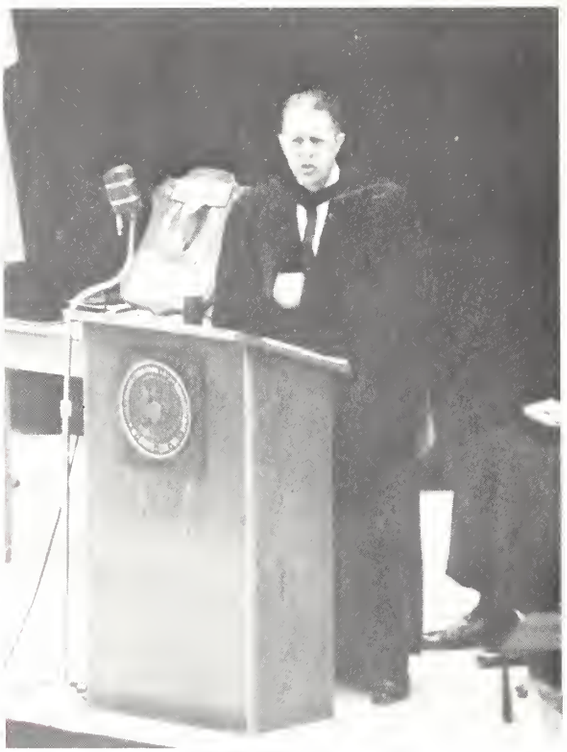
Among those present at the convocation were the Rev. Robert Houlihan, S.J., Academic Dean; Dr. Joseph Smiley, guest speaker; Rev. Thomas Finucane, S.J., Dean of Students and the Very Rev. Richard Ryan, S.J., President of Regis College.

Spring Convocation

The Spring Convocation of Regis College was held in the Fieldhouse on March seventeenth. The Convocation address was given by Doctor Allen D. Breck, Chairman of the History Department at the University of Denver. Doctor Breck's principal theme was on honor given in the twentieth century. Through various anecdotes used and his most interesting manner Doctor Breck made his point very well. This was obvious from the alertness and, later, the comments of the students.

At the same time thirteen students were named charter members of the new campus chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu which is a national Jesuit honor society. Also, two hundred and thirty students were recognized for achieving the dean's list or for special departmental honors.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Reverend Martin E. Palmer, S.J., instructor in theology. There was also an address by our Dean the Reverend Robert F. Houlihan, S.J.



Dr. Allen D. Beck of Denver University addresses the Regis student body at the Spring Convocation.

Honors Banquet

John Martin, past president of the Student Senate, introduces Father Ryan at the Honors Banquet.

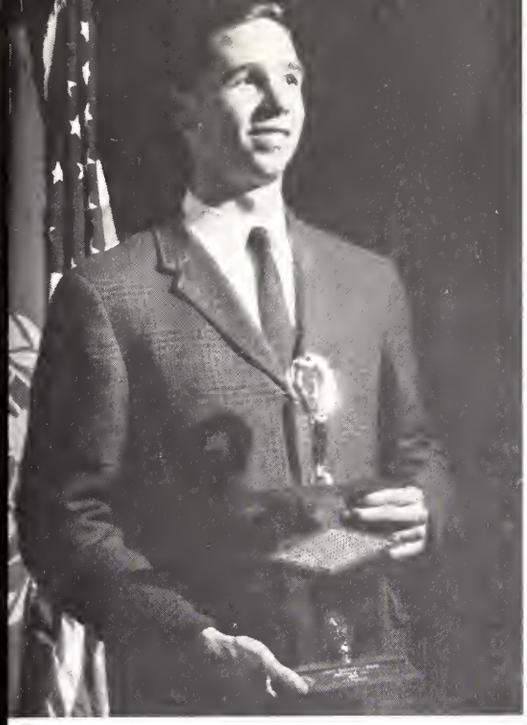
Father Robert F. Houlihan, Academic Dean; Mr. Stephen McNichols, past governor of Colorado, alumnus of Regis and guest speaker for the banquet; and the Very Reverend Richard F. Ryan S.J., President of the College.

The Eighth Annual Honors Banquet of Regis College marks the occasion when the students join together to honor their peers for excellence and achievement in extra-curricular activities.

The main speaker at the banquet was the former Governor of Colorado Stephen L. R. McNichols. Governor McNichols was graduated from Regis College in 1936. His principal theme was on the various contributions that we can make to our government and communities. He cited the famous words of our late President John F. Kennedy: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

The program also included the recognition of Charter Members of the new campus charter of the Jesuit honor society Alpha Sigma Nu.

The Honors Banquet was attended by the administration, faculty, parents, students and friends of Regis College.



The John Gleason Memorial Award is awarded annually by the Brothers of Alpha Delta Gamma to the senior athlete who best personifies the ideals of good sportsmanship at Regis. This year two merited the award: Jay Coakley and Tony Reed (not pictured).

The Regis College Benchwarmers Most Spirited Student Award is awarded to the student who supports and encourages spirit at all athletic events to the utmost. This year's award goes to Dick Bowles.

Alpha Sigma Nu

One of the highlights of 1966 was the formation of the Regis chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu, the national Jesuit honor fraternity. Organized in Milwaukee fifty years ago, Alpha Sigma Nu's purpose is to honor those students of Jesuit universities and colleges who distinguish themselves in scholarship, loyalty, and service.

On the basis of carefully defined standards, the fraternity nominates eight juniors and eight seniors. The Dean of Students selects four juniors and four seniors and recommends them to the President of the College. The President of the College may directly appoint up to three juniors and three seniors on the basis of exceptionally distinguished service. Scholarship is not a requisite for those directly appointed by the President of the College.

Thirteen Regis men were given the distinct honor of being named to the charter chapter at Regis. Under the moderation of Mr. Vincent Hovely, S.J., the Regis Chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu will engage in activities calculated to concretely elevate the intellectual and cultural level of the students at Regis College.

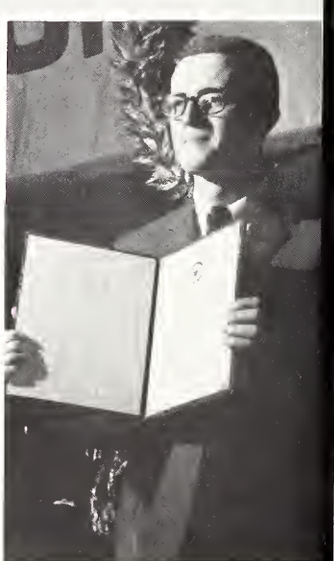
DICK BOWLES, a senior Philosophy major from Chicago, Illinois, and perennial Dean's List student, is currently President of the senior class and was President of the junior class. Dick received Man-of-the-Year last year, and was in Who's Who, and also served as Section Editor of the RANGER.

MIKE VEYSEY, a senior English major from Old Greenwich, Conn., has compiled an outstanding record in his four years at Regis. A Dean's List student, Mike has appeared in Who's Who for the last two years, has served as President of Alpha Delta Gamma, and as a Director on the Student Senate Executive Board.

Men of the Year

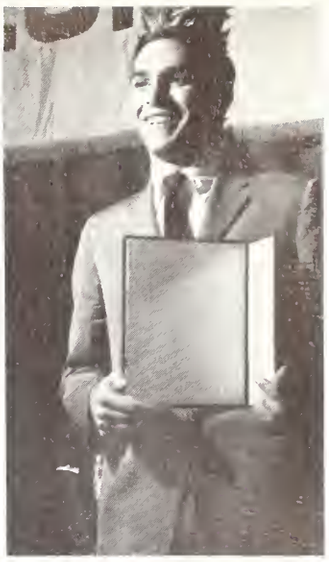
RICH SCHERER, a math major from Denver, distinguished himself during his service as a Director on the Student Senate Executive Board. Rich has been active in the St. John Berchmans Society and the Denver Club. He has received the Who's Who award and has been on the Dean's List often.

JOHN MARTIN, a senior from Kansas City, Kansas is majoring in biology. Active in I.R.A. with two terms as president, Benchwarmers, St. John Berchman Society and the R Club. A Brother of Rho Chi Sigma he participated in varsity soccer and was President of the Executive Board, and has appeared twice in Who's Who.

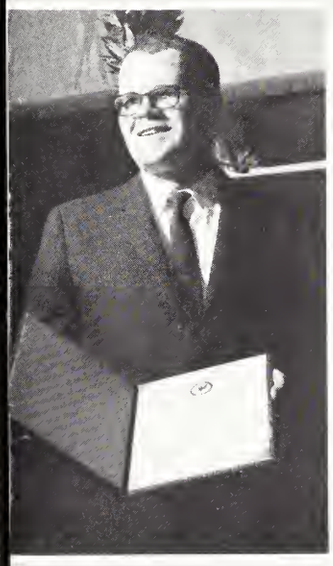


EDWARD J. CONNOLLY, a senior from Denver with a divisional concentration. He has been Freshmen Class President, Sophomore Class Vice-president, Secretary of the Benchwarmers and Vice-president of the Student Senate Executive Board and took part in intramurals and the St. Thomas More Society. Dean's List for four years.

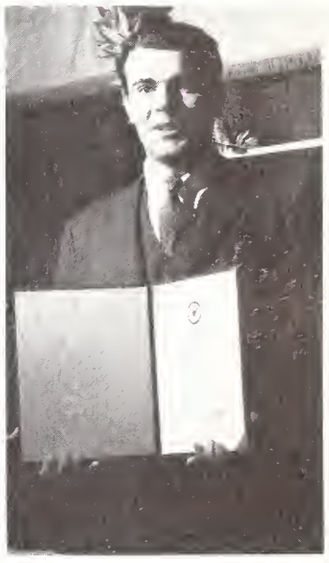
BRIAN KIMMEL, a senior history major from Denver, served this year as a Director on the Student Senate Executive Board. A Dean's List student, Brian has also received the Who's Who award. He has been an enthusiastic member of the Denver Club, in which he served as President.



JOSEPH J. FIGLINO, a biology major from Denver. Joe has been Secretary of the Sophomore and Junior Class, President of the Benchwarmers and Treasurer of the Student Senate Executive Board. During his term as President of Rho Chi they obtained both the Best Fraternity and Best Event Awards. Elected to Who's Who.



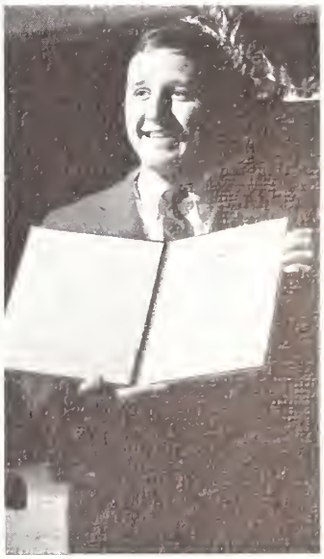
PETE ROHAN, from Poughkeepsie, New York, is majoring in History. For the past year, Pete has been President of AKPsi business fraternity. He is an active member of the International Relations Club and also a member of the Benchwarmers. Pete has compiled an outstanding record during his long four years at Regis.



JIM DRISCOL, a Denver native, is majoring in sociology. He serves as Vice-President of the senior class and holds the same office in the Aquinas Academy. Jim was a day student representative and a member of the Orientation Committee.

JOE BARZANTNY, from Kankakee, Illinois, is majoring in Business Administration. Joe was President of the junior class and Treasurer of the Freshmen class. He is also a member of AKPsi fraternity.

JOHN BUKATY, a Business Administration major, hails from Kansas City, Kansas. John serves as Treasurer of the senior class and held the same office in the junior class. He is a member of AKPsi and has served as the fraternity's pledgemaster.



Outstanding Fraternity

This year the outstanding fraternity selected was Rho Chi Sigma. Primarily a science fraternity, it is one of the oldest organizations on campus with its original conception in 1929.

President, Joseph J. Figlino, pre-dental Biology major was assisted this productive year by his fellow officers Ted Beringer, Lou Steininger, Jim Gregory, Mark Hall and Mike Kellogg. The leadership of these officers coupled with an active body of brothers proved to be the key factor in their recognition of Outstanding Fraternity.

The goals of Rho Chi Sigma are threefold. Firstly to further the knowledge in science, secondly to create strong bonds of brotherhood socially and academically, and thirdly to develop spiritually.

The first goal was accomplished through the institution of the Faculty Lecture Series. Faculty members from various departments shed light on science from their point of view and background. Various tours and outside lectures enabled the brothers to enhance their technical knowledge.

Throughout the academic year the brothers engage in various social functions. The 14th Annual Spring Banquet was typical of this. Faculty, parents, alumnus and brothers and their dates were treated to an elaborate banquet at Mario's. The brothers competed in every phase of intramural competition under the direction of Mark Hall. The Rho Chi Sigma Car Rally proved to be the chief social event for the entire student body, and was chosen the Outstanding Event of the year. Communion Breakfasts were held regularly throughout the year to bring the brothers together spiritually as well as socially.

Concentrated efforts on the parts of the brothers coupled with undying spirit led Rho Chi Sigma to acquisition of the Best Fraternity award for three of the past four years at Regis.

Outstanding Event

The Rho Chi Sigma Car Rally was named the outstanding event and was sponsored by Rho Chi Sigma fraternity.

The brothers perceived the need for a revolutionary new event to the student body at Regis. President Joe Figlino, had entered regional and national sports car rallies in past years. On examination of their adaptation to Regis and its students, the brothers could see something to fit the need. The Car Rally was based on scientific principals and mathematical equations, which would be expected from a science fraternity, and gave the students an opportunity to get off campus and enjoy much of the beautiful Colorado scenery.

Headed by rallymaster, Joe Figlino, and co-ordinators Ted Beringer, Lou Steininger, Mark Hall, Jim Gregory, Ed Fitzpatrick and Phil Quinley, the rally was drawn up and set for October 2, 1965.

A car rally is based on the equation D-RT (distance, rate of speed and time). An official time is established by many pre-runs times. The car closest to or equal to the official time is declared the winner. (The Fall Car Rally was won by Jay Coakley.) The route covered approximately 200 miles round trip. There are occasional stops along the route where one can party with his date and fellow contestants. A banquet was held in Colorado Springs, and the winners were announced there.

Figlino and his co-ordinators did run into difficulties in the administrative end. This was mainly due to their inexperience in the novice event. On the whole all did go well.

A Spring Car Rally has also been adapted by Rho Chi Sigma. With the incentive of this award, the bi-annual Car Rally proves to be an established tradition for Rho Chi Sigma, and Regis College.

Pat Kelly, incoming editor and Joe Wilson, retiring editor of The Brown & Gold receiving the Outstanding Organization award.

Outstanding Organization

The award for the Outstanding Organization was captured by the Brown & Gold which has progressed considerably this past year from a "seldom published, seldom read" storybook to a vital newspaper reporting and commenting on current activities at Regis.

The major credit for this improvement must go to this year's editor, Joseph R. Wilson, who assumed the duties of editor in order to prove that a newspaper could be meaningful, and necessary to Regis. Together with Pat Kelly, Assistant Editor, he set out to establish two goals for the B & G in the Spring semester of 1965. The Brown and Gold accomplished its first objective by publishing on a bi-weekly basis eight issues for the Spring semester, which was more issues than had previously been published for two years. The second objective was accomplished by keeping current news in the B & G, and instilling spirit for improvement through its editorials.

Having completed these two objectives, Joe set out to improve the writing and show the variety of activities offered at Regis. Joe and Pat were almost solely responsible for the writing and putting together of the first summer issue of the Brown & Gold. The remaining eight issues, published during the Fall semester of 1965, demonstrated objective reporting in good journalistic style. The Brown & Gold reported, or featured, such happenings as the arts festival, the plays, the draft issue, the fraternities at Regis, and the speakers and entertainment brought to Regis. The editorial policy sought to improve the student body in all phases of college life. All in all, the Brown & Gold, under the direction of Joe and Pat, proved that there was a need for a newspaper at Regis, and that the newspaper could become the echo, if not the voice, of student opinion.

Student Leadership Conference

The annual Leadership Conference was held this year at Vail during the fall season with a representation of seventy-five members. Through informal discussions the group sought to strengthen understanding among the students and better the relationship with the faculty and administration.

During the course of the first day the panel discussed Academics and considered various aspects such as the students' view on the classroom challenge, admission practices of Regis, the college policy on academic deficiency, and the changes foreseen by the administration in academic standards for the coming year.

Saturday morning the panel discussed the Spiritual Life. Some of the topics discussed included the attitude of students toward the new liturgy, attendance at Mass, and the lackadaisical attitude toward the spiritual life at Regis.

After a noon Mass and luncheon, there was a highly informative discussion on the role of fine arts in a liberal arts college and how Regis has failed in seeking to mold the "whole man."

The Conference achieved a great deal in the way of discussion; and only time will tell its effectiveness in bringing about action.

"Some people say the darnedest things."

"Some people just talk, but he means every word he says."

Freshman Orientation

"Welcome to Regis College . . . .!" In the first few days of September the freshmen heard that welcome hundreds of times. This wasn't all the freshmen heard during their orientation—which differs from initiation in many ways. The upperclassmen, who rated, were all present to help the frosh adjust to their new surroundings and to tell them what was expected of them. The latter statement was the killer!

Then, during the Newman Seminars, the frosh had the chance to show their intellectual brilliance . . . . .?

They attended various meetings to find out the rules and regulations, both academic and social, of what they now were learning to call "the Harvard of the West."

Orientation was just the beginning of what was going to prove to be a long and gruesome month of initiation.

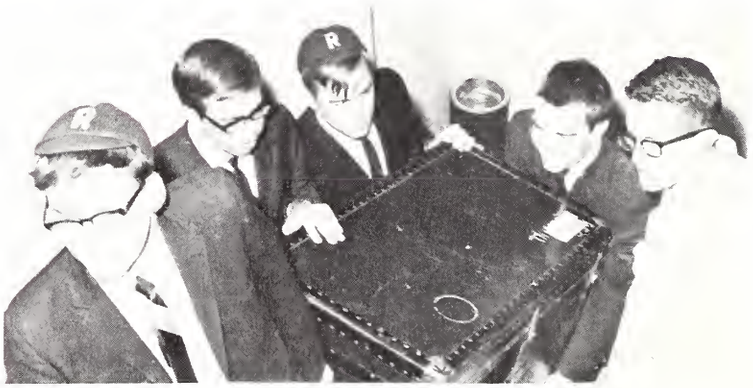
Those seminars were very interesting and helpful.

". . . and after carrying all that stuff, he wants to go to a Zoo . . ."

"This campus is great, if you don't walk on these stairs."



Easy Eddie takes it easy.

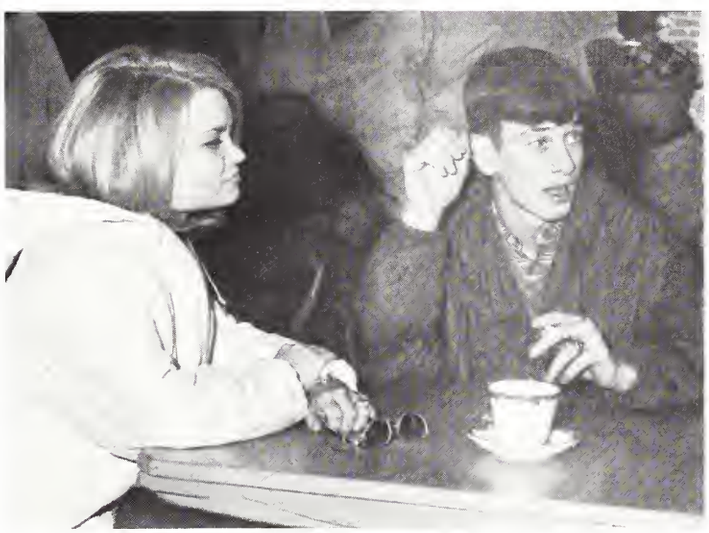
Freshman Initiation

Remember when you wore white socks?

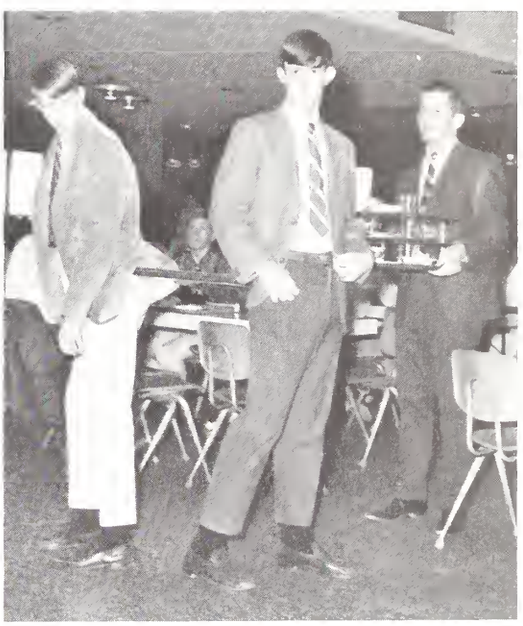
"For a month?" "Impossible!" That was the attitude of the freshmen concerning initiation. In the first few days of school, they were told what was expected of them. However, things turned out differently when all the upperclassmen arrived on campus. The frosh got their first taste of what could be called something similar to Colt 45—a completely unique experience!

The freshmen naturally attired in their coats and ties, beanies and name tags, and, of course, black socks, performed such menial tasks as carrying trays at meals, washing cars, changing flats, and carrying suitcases and boxes—filled with all sorts of little goodies!

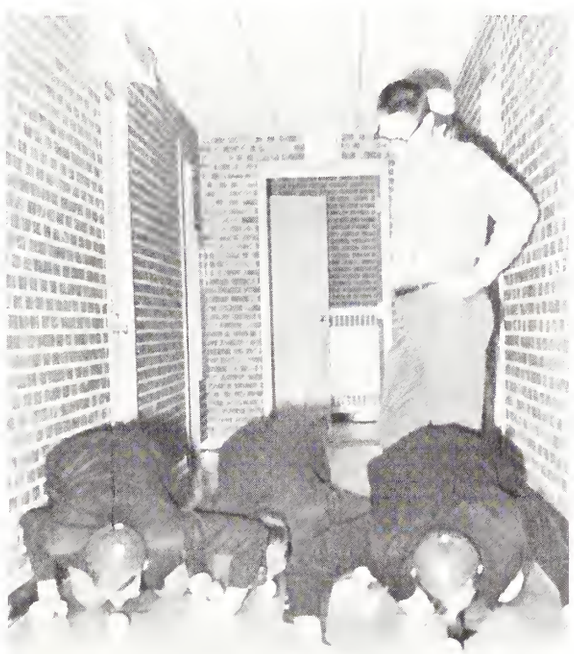
The frosh followed the rules of the handbook cheerfully and complied with all the traditions. And they are now all anxiously awaiting the arrival of next fall's freshmen class.



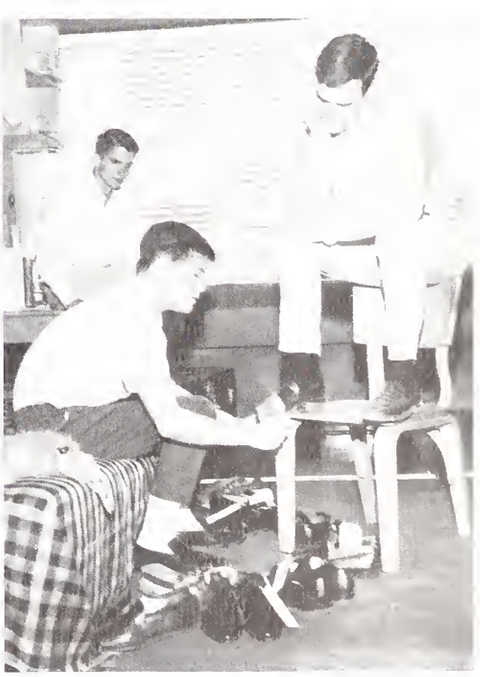
"The Air Force Academy? Isn't that a play school for fly boys?"



"Get your butt movin'!"



"Those balls smell good, don't they boys?"



Military camp taught him ONE thing.

Thirteen miles to go.

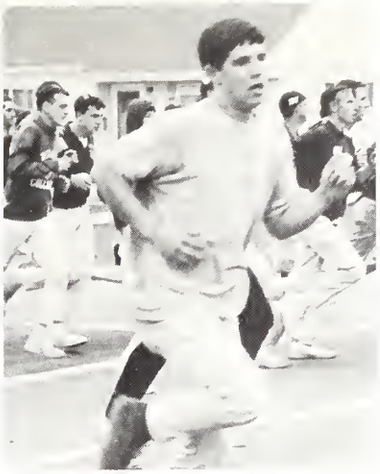
. . . five . . . six . . . seven . . .

Freshman Hike

"Run thirteen miles . . .!" With that the freshmen laughed it off until that fateful morning. However, there were few smiling faces and little laughter from the freshmen—but quite a bit from the facetious upperclassmen who were, by the way, riding comfortably in the "pick-up" truck. With that reluctant enthusiasm that the freshmen are known for, they trotted off into the sunrise complete with beanies, name tags, and black socks . . .?

The exchange of earthy expressions between the frosh and their ever-encouraging big brothers were quite numerous. In fact they were too numerous when a freshman heard "ten push-ups" or "start duck-walking."

It was the general opinion of the freshmen that the Loretto Heights girls never looked so good!



It's break time!

I've had it.

Who hasn't?

TOUGH LUCK!

What the . . .?

That's the direct approach.

You upperclassmen jealous?

Freshman Frolic

"It's over . . .!" "Three cheers for the freshmen." "You came through beautifully baby." These were some of the expressions that one heard many times the night of the frolic.

At one time or another almost everyone made some sort of an appearance. The Bossmen supplied the usual music which the dancers staggered around the floor to; Matt Kramer and his orchestra furnished the more classical music for the fox trots and waltzes . . .?

During the course of the evening the Queen was presented. Again this year a young lass from CWC was chosen. It just goes to show you . . .

When all was over the Frolic was proclaimed to be a really smashing success!

Brothers Four

In their visit to our campus The Brothers Four lived up to their reputation as being "the most popular singing group on the American college campus." The 3000 people, both young and old, who attended the concert will remember that night in October when The Brothers Four confirmed Regis a leader in bringing top, wholesome entertainment to the Rocky Mountain West.

Before the first concert with Glenn Yarbrough, many people on campus wondered whether Regis really was a college in certain aspects. As Johnny Carson put it on his Tonight Show, "Regis College? Where's that?" Well, Johnny Carson, now you know and so do some 2 million other people. But more important so does the student of Regis College. Now we all know that Regis is something to be proud of thanks to all the people who made The Brothers Four Concert possible and thanks to "the Brothers" themselves.

Halloween Dance

"Aren't they thweet?"

For days in advance you could hear throughout the dorms "What should I wear for a costume?" There were many suggestions.

Looking around you, you see a variety of costumes on the dance floor. All groups are represented. The Romans, the Cambell Kids, and even the Hell's Angels showed up. Off in the corner you even spot a "zoomie," an unusual thing at a Regis dance, and later find out that it's a Height's girl dressed in her cadet's uniform—it even fits like a white glove. But actually it was the Regis men living it up at the Halloween dance.

"Do you think I need a man's deodorant?"

"You're right! Rapid Shave does give a better shave."

"My daddy has more money than your daddy even if my slip is showing."

"Have you seen my mother?"

". . . oo, ah, cha-cha-cha . . ."

". . . do you feel it, do you, do you? . . ."

Presentation Ball

Was the Presentation Ball just another typically Regis dance? If so, what is typically Regis? Remember the last minute decisions being made about the motel parties at lunch on Friday over fish and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches? And how about the question of who's going to drive? Of course there's always the guy who has to be fixed up at the last minute and all the phones are busy at the Heights.

That night you arrive at the dance and find all your friends are in good spirits. After meeting all the people who were at the motel party for the second time, you escape to the dance floor. Whether it be to the twangy guitars and harsh voices of a rock-n-roll band or to the quite good taste of a dance band, you find it easy to enjoy yourself.

By now you have tired and return to find that everyone has retreated to the motel for a final "night cap." Once the party ends and you have returned your date, you find yourself relaxing in your room at Regis when a friend comes in to tell about his adventures that night. Lying on your bed with your shoes off, cigarette in mouth, you wonder, "Was this typical?"

"But Butch, the fox-trot went out in 1919."

"O'kay you lucky devils, here I am."

"Ya mean you guys didn't fix me up?"

Coronation Ball

For three weeks, seven organizations presented their candidates to the Regis students. Throughout the campaign, many various qualities about each candidate were emphasized. After voting, we all looked forward to the final announcement at the Coronation Ball as to who would reign as Queen of Regis.

One thing was sure, the queen would have to have blond hair, blue eyes, and look like a high school homecoming queen. She would have to be the image of what most Regis men thought was beautiful. Miss Marlene Budden is just that.

In honoring her at the Ball, it was a chance for everyone to relax before the final week of exams. As things turned out, it was a delightful evening and thanks must be given to ADG for supplying both the Queen and a wonderful time that night.

Inaugural Ball

Friday evening of February eleventh marked the sixth Inaugural Ball of the Regis College Executive Board. The gala event was open to all Regis students, in the grand ballroom of the Brown Palace Hotel.

The purpose of this ball was to formally introduce the newly elected Executive Board and to bid farewell to the past board.

At approximately nine o'clock the well-dressed couples started dancing happily to the music of Will Back's orchestra. The music varied from waltzes and fox trots to the charleston.

From general conversation with various students it was widely acclaimed that the ball was a tremendous success. I would like to take this opportunity to thank, on behalf of all the Regis College student body, the Student Senate and the administration of Regis College for allowing us to have such a great evening and also for letting us help the Executive Board celebrate their newly attained positions.

The Boyfriend

Are boys boys or is there a difference?

If someone discovers boys aren't "actually" boys it's going to cause quite a commotion in a number of places such as the Bronco's locker room, Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, and O'Donnell Hall. And for the sake of the Boy Scouts I'll concede "boys are boys at times" and do have many things in common.

But if you can overlook differences which make each one of them an individual and simply peg each one "b" for boy, you should also peg yourself "I" for loser because you're missing out on quite a bit. They can't be categorized and filed under a general heading. You must regard each one as an individual person and learn to know the qualities each one of them has to offer. If you take the time out to do this you'll wind up with some really genuine friends and maybe . . .

Linda Barry, '66

My dim view of some Regis students occasioned the following response from my brother Pat, himself a Regis graduate.

Regis men wear sweatshirts—Fly-boys white gloves
Rangers are animals — Ca-dets are loves
Parents are impressed with the boys in blue
Their reaction to "R" men is "who are you?"
Later your friends, away at the bar,
Only remind you the Springs is so far.
They're up in the mountains every fine day.
You're alone in the room with your third straight "A".
Ya can't live it up with pen and a letter,
Stick around dear Sue—my boys will look better.

—Sue Ryan, '69

There's a big difference. Just try to categorize boys and there's one for each category; no two fit in the same one. You finally think you understand "them" and the next one that comes along confuses you all over again. That's what I mean: each boy has the ingredients of ambition, warmth, fun, independence, masculinity, understanding and gentleness in his own special way. He's not just any boy—he's a boy. There is a big difference.

Rita Sramek. '67

And we ran to them.

Definitely there is a difference! Here at school we see evidence of two different types of boys—the Regis type and the Air Force type.

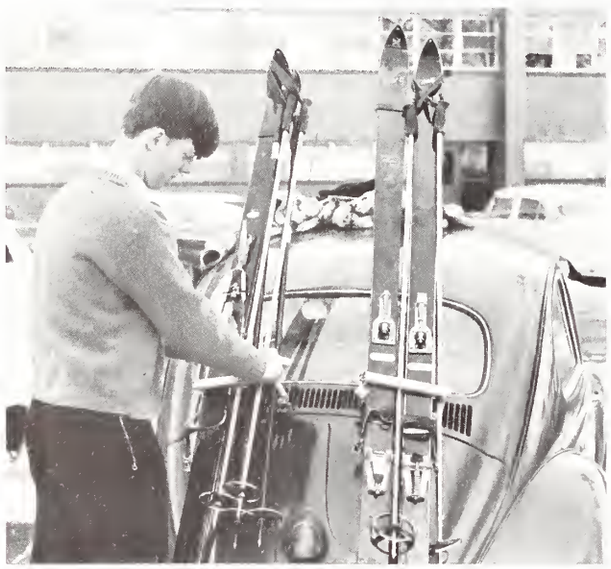
The One-Upsmanship Award

Occasionally a student so distinguishes himself that he deserves special recognition. This recognition may come from the administration through scholarships, special awards or perhaps a board meeting. At other times recognition comes from within the student community. This year THE RANGER staff feels that one among us has earned such recognition. Reacting to a challenge proposed by two of the lesser sex from the south campus that a Regis student could not crash a Heights Academy mixer John Wodniak, mild mannered college student from the great Jesuit liberal arts center of the Rocky Mountain West, assumed his guise of "super-jebbie" and was given a warm welcome and royal tour of the young ladies institution by three gracious nuns and some top brass from the Academy.

It is in consideration of this remarkable achievement that the yearbook staff takes great pride in presenting "The One-Upsmanship Award" to sophomore John Wodniak.

"If that can be done, the White House is next on my list."



One way to escape the cell block.

What are those for?

Ski Country U.S.A.

Welcome to Ski Country U.S.A. And this is it.

The skiing majority of Regis College students was most anxious to see the first good snow of the season. Even though we got off to a later start than last year, the conditions were better at first. Since then the conditions were great.

To help those of us who don't have a car or who can't find a ride to the ski areas the Ski Club sponsors a number of ski trips during the season. Most successful of the trips is the ski weekend to Breckenridge in March. This annual event involves most of the skiers on campus and even some of the faculty. The weekend itself is filled with wonderful skiing and even better apres ski parties.

Moments To Remember . . .

The class of '66 has many unforgettable memories of memorable times. These four years here have produced times that would delight any author to write a best seller. This 1966 RANGER serves to ever remind us of the events and good times of this past year. But try to remember the times that lead from O'Connell Hall to Carroll Hall. Remember the raid we had on the seniors in Carroll during the Orientation . . . and the weekend room campuses resulting from the singing of wo wo wo wo wo wo wooo . . . the Iota Mu Iota (and we will not say more) . . . the 4th Dimension dance . . . and the Jesuit floor-walker we would see at three in the morning . . . and the friendly note to the Prefect saying, "Hold the boys down tonight. Visiting Lecturers

Proud of its heritage as an institution of liberal disciplines, the College feels that the convenience and availability of an on-campus program of current topics is a major responsibility which cannot be denied. To this end the various college organizations in association with the Student Body have initiated and continued to provide a regular lecture series open to the public as well as the students. Included in this dynamic and didactic program are addresses by national figures ranging in scope from the subtle meanings of poetry to the explosive question of Viet Nam. This rise of campus communication has been met with increased enthusiasm and will continue to elevate its stature as time proceeds.

Ranger Weekend

In the past, Ranger Day was just one day when the dorms were open for girls, when we gambled in the "casino," and when we ate our dinner outside and sat on the grass; but it is now actually an entire weekend when we were visited on one day by Glenn Yarbrough and took part in the festivities on another. Coupling the excitement on campus, the singing of Glenn, and the joking of Biff Rose made that weekend one no one will soon forget.

The Spirit of Regis

These signs were proof of the new Ranger drive.

Ranger Soccer

The Regis College Soccer Team displayed a tremendous winning spirit this year which resulted with the best season on record. In previous years the Rangers showed little hope for the future. But this year's team was far different than the Rangers of the past—far different. It was apparent from the outset that the Soccer Team found confidence in their experience and spirit in their potential. After the opening game loss to Colorado College it became obvious that it was only a matter of time before the Rangers would break loose. It was in the third game against Colorado School of Mines that the string of losses was finally broken.

From this point on the Rangers had the confidence they needed to battle their opponents on equal terms. Spirit, hustle, and determination marked their style of play throughout the season. The defeatist attitude which dominated the 1964 season had been stamped out—what a difference a year makes.

Outstanding performances were made by Captain Butch Mortland, Dennis Bankowski, Joe Walmsley, Mike Veysey, Jim Horning, Terry Wagner, Terry Kramer, and goalie Ralph Toruno. All members of the team did fine work for the Rangers. Remembrance should go especially to the seniors who fought for four years without glory or recognition. Their names may soon be forgotten but what they created could very easily live for many years to come. These men have not left us with a tradition to establish but a tradition to enrich.

"Bankowski drives for a goal as students look on."

"Ralph saves another"

"The defense holds its own"

"Anything for a buck"

"I hope theirs has seven-way stretch"

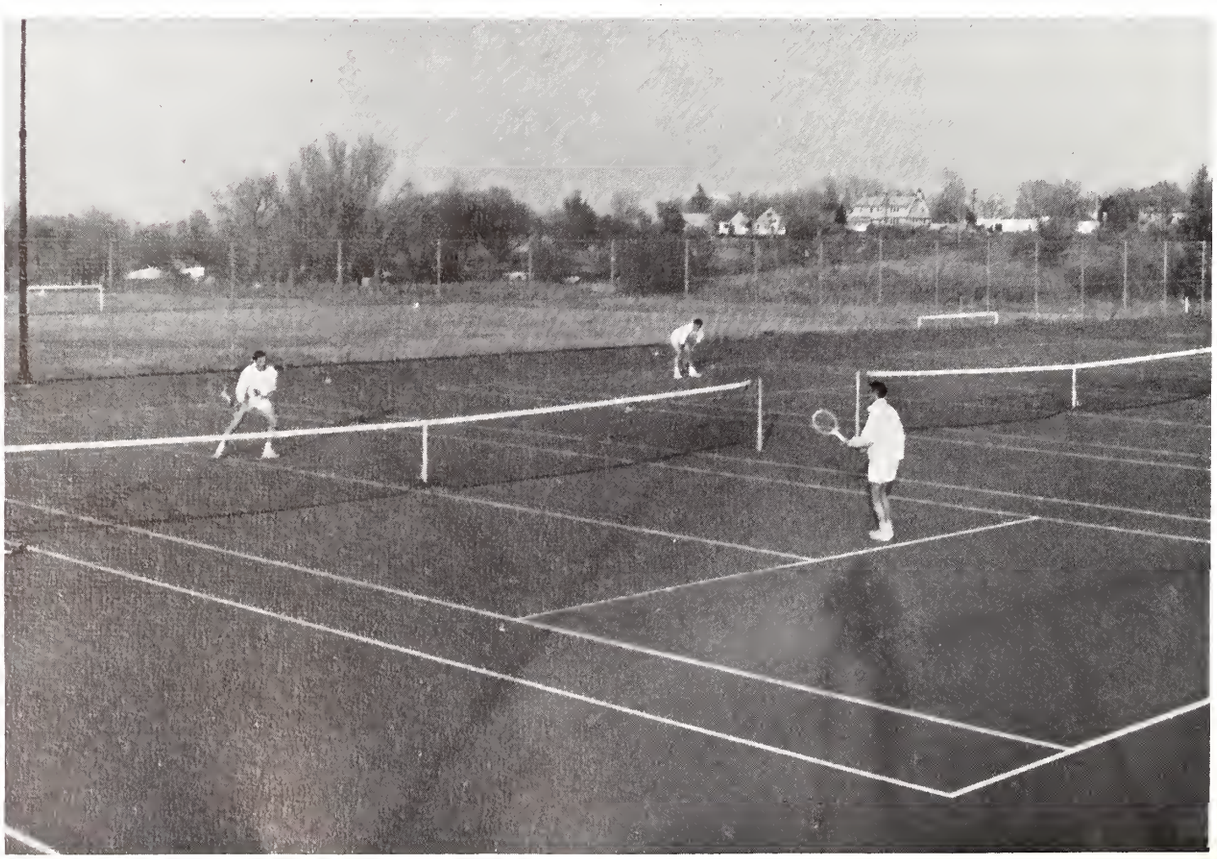
Kowalsky and Moloney team up for Regis.

Ranger Tennis

This year's tennis team had the major problem of rebuilding. Only two lettermen returned from last season, John Moloney and Gary Kowalsky. It is hoped that a number of Freshmen will give help to the Rangers so that this varsity sport may be continued at Regis. With the proper facilities all students are given the opportunity to learn the sport of tennis. With the alarming fact of only two lettermen back, the field is open to the Freshmen and Sophomores during the next few years.

Thanks to Moloney and Kowalsky the Rangers were able to throw some experience at their opponents.

The Ranger Tennis team loosens up before a match.



John Kenny putts as Mark Whitaker looks on.

Ranger Golf

The hopes of Ranger Golf this year center around the team's two returning lettermen, seniors Mark Whitaker and Ken Jorgensen. Backing up the "big two" are sophomore Steve Lundy and junior Bob Dunn. Last year's team showed a definite willingness to work plus a spirit of dedication in the face of a very apathetic student body. With a carryover of this attitude plus the enthusiasm already displayed by several incoming freshmen. This year's golf team will certainly represent Regis in a capable manner.

Intramural Basketball

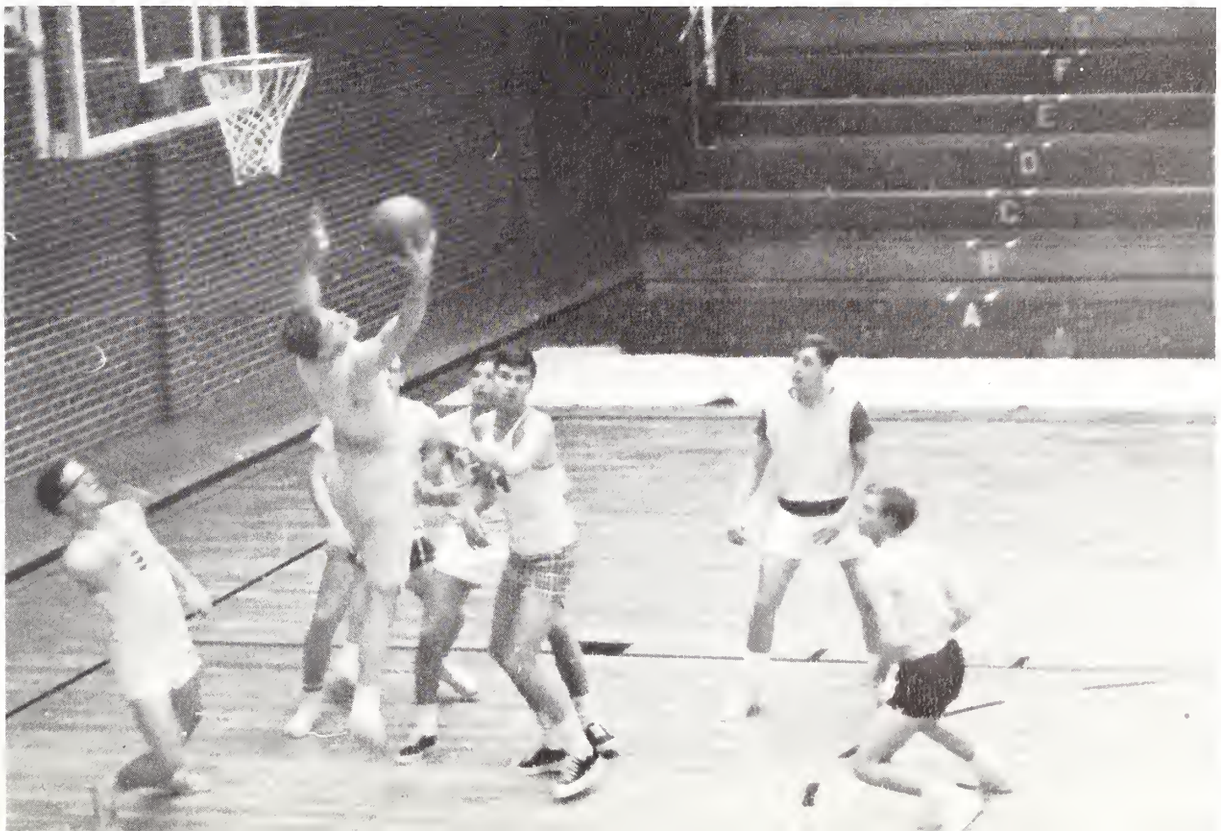
"AKPsi and ADG open battle"

This year the intramural basketball season was featured with twenty-one teams participating in a total of three leagues. The fine freshmen turn out enabled the basketball season to provide the fine competition and enjoyment for all who played.

As the season opened the defending champion Gorillas along with the Dunkers and the talented Beam Team were the heavy favorites. A surprising freshmen team called the No Names has been the real surprise in the 'A' League along with the disappointing AKPsi 'A' team. The outstanding trio of Joe Mackin, Tom Steck, and Ron Anderson lead the fine Gorillas team to another outstanding season. Other standouts were Mark Hall of Rho Chi Sigma, John Bennett of ADG, John McMullen of the Dunkers, and Dan Conroy of the Beam Team.

It is obvious that the intramural program in all sports has gained momentum and prestige throughout this school year. It is hoped that such interest will continue in the coming years here at Regis. Recognition should go to Coach Chuck Swanson for his fine work in organizing each sport.

"Roots does the twist as the Dunkers do the trick"



"The faces of fear"

"Rocky goes high as the 'Rodent' looks on"

"Dierks and Eustice struggle on"

"Eustice bags two for the Dunkers"

Intramural Football

Mike Kent throws for Rho Chi.

Cirrincione dives for the Beamers.

The intramural football season was highlighted by two major factors: one, that twelve teams participated, and the other, the champion Beam Team, was one of the top teams organized in the recent past here at Regis.

Two leagues of six teams each were formed. This allowed for a tournament which followed the regular season. Even with their top quarterback, Charlie O'Malley, out of the tournament, the Beam Team swept to the championship with a 24-18 score over the Dunkers. The hustling Gorilla team took third place over ADG by a score of 20-12.

AKPsi was without a doubt the most disappointing team during the football season. The morale of the defending Intramural Champions was injured by the large number of inactives this year. Congratulations should go to the many freshmen who displayed such a fine show this past season.

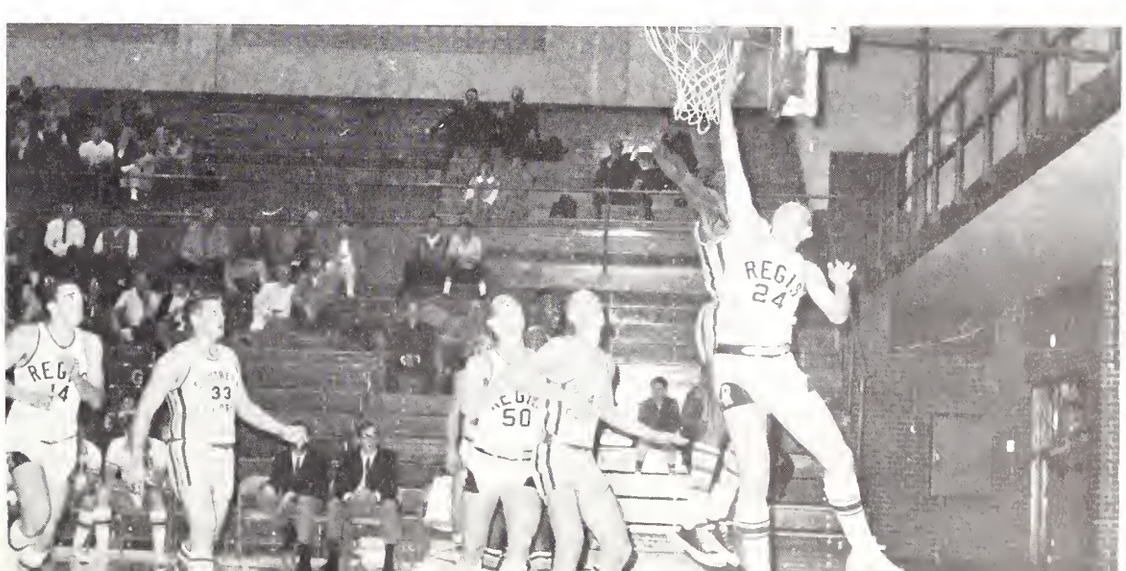
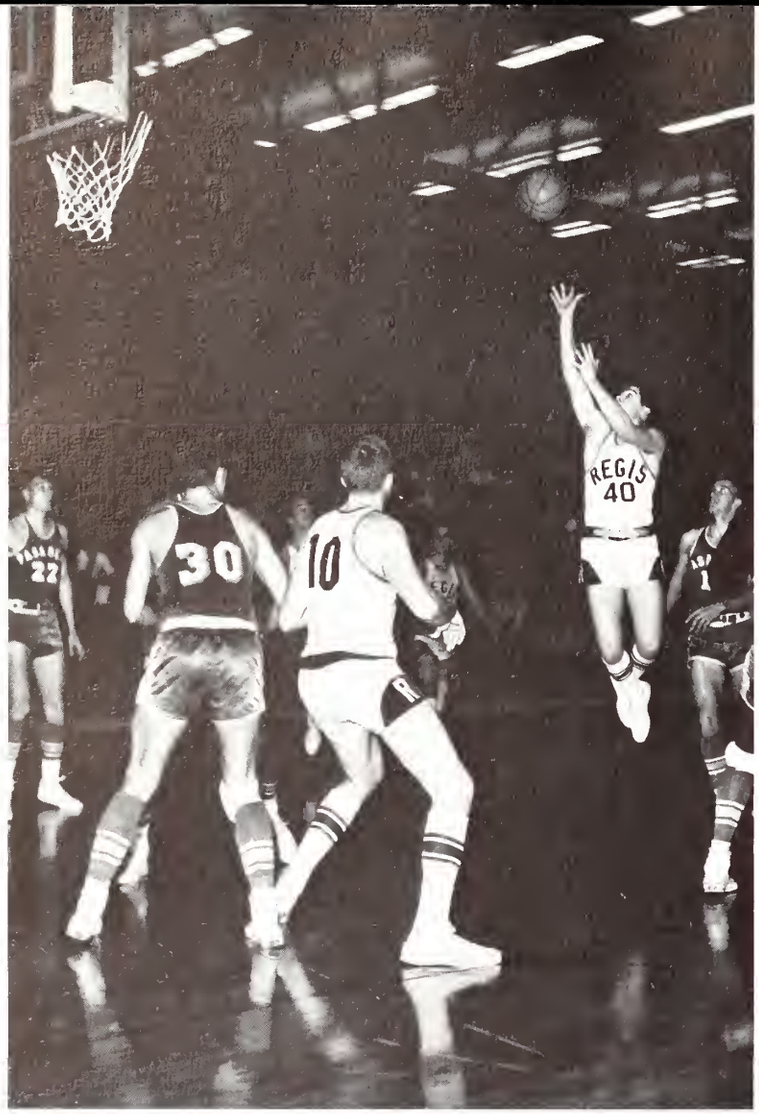
Ranger Basketball

A "new breed" of men has appeared on the hard-wood floor of Regis College. These men have provided the Ranger campus with a "new look" in basketball play, which displays outstanding promise in years to follow. The team, primarily consisting of freshmen, is anchored by five upperclassmen; seniors, Tony Reed and Jay Coakley, junior, Donnie Chavez, and sophomores, Chris Kostiuk and Joe Kaveney. Reed and Coakley, outstanding leaders, furnished the all-important and invaluable quality of experience which this young team needed desperately in order to compete with veteran units of rival schools. Both exhibit remarkable competitiveness and teamness. Auspicious freshmen, Rich Schraeder, Doug Dunagan, Don Fortney, and Bob Wille radiate the spirit of true amateur athletes. They looked superb in their floor play and shooting only to go down in defeat by a whisker, 83-81 to C.S.C. In the wake of three more defeats, two wins over Colorado College soon followed. Wins became increasingly more difficult to secure as the Rangers combated teams superior in size and experience, two assets ultimately necessary for success in college basketball. Despite the losses, these individuals began to jell as a team, working for each other and looking quite impressive in many of their defeats. They became hardened veterans of college basketball.

Throughout the long season our "gladiators" put forth one hundred percent effort on and off the floor, in order that you and I could say with pride and loud voice, "I'm from REGIS!"

Schraeder goes up in a vain effort.

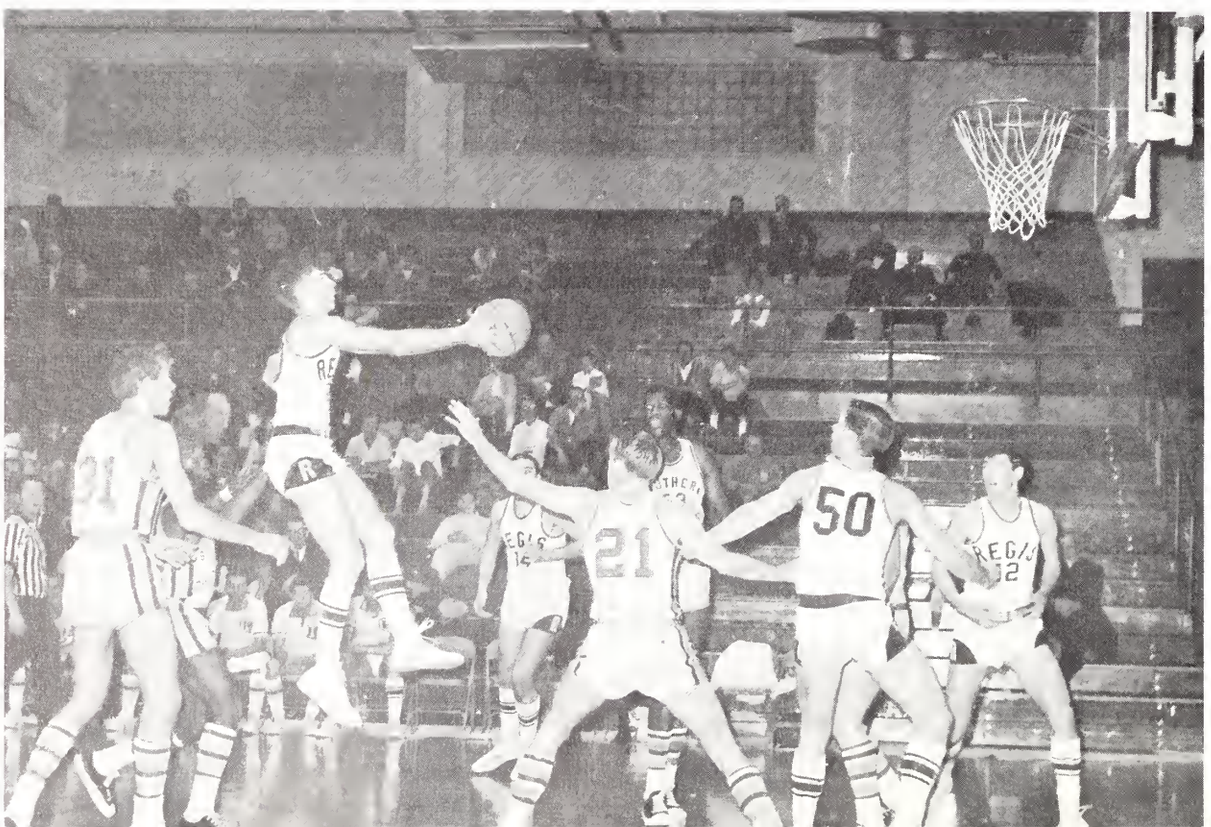




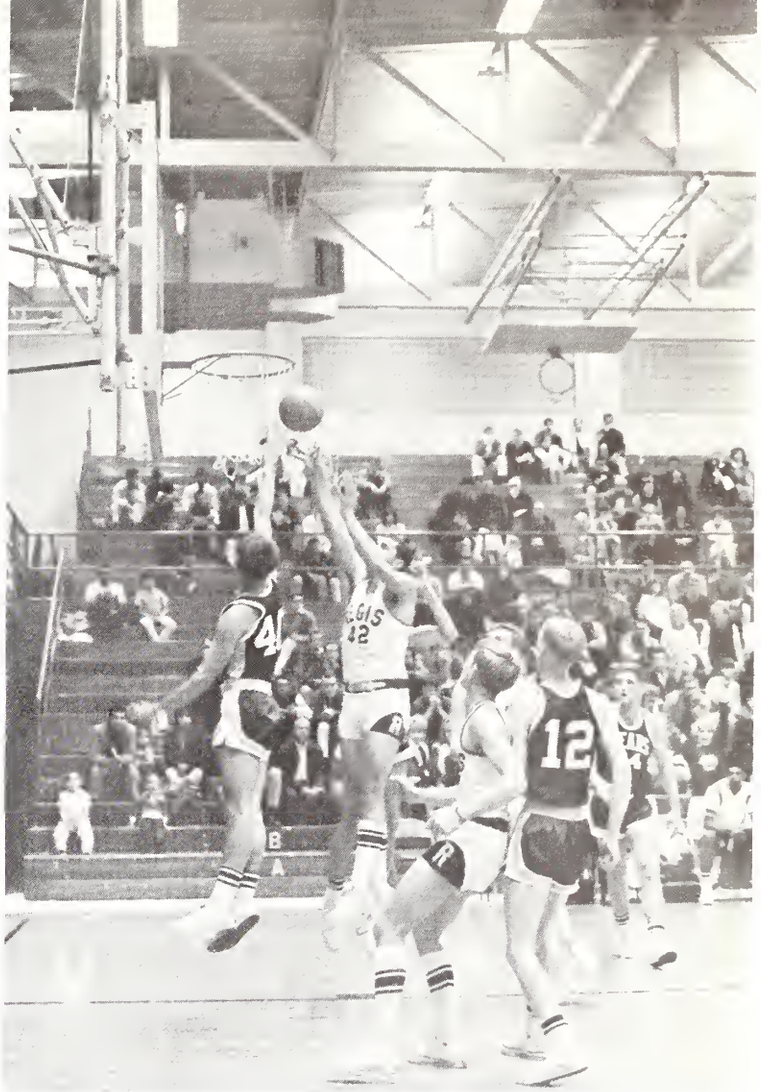
Chavez in a brief performance.

Coakley goes for two in a vain effort.

Dunagan drives in for an easy lay-up.

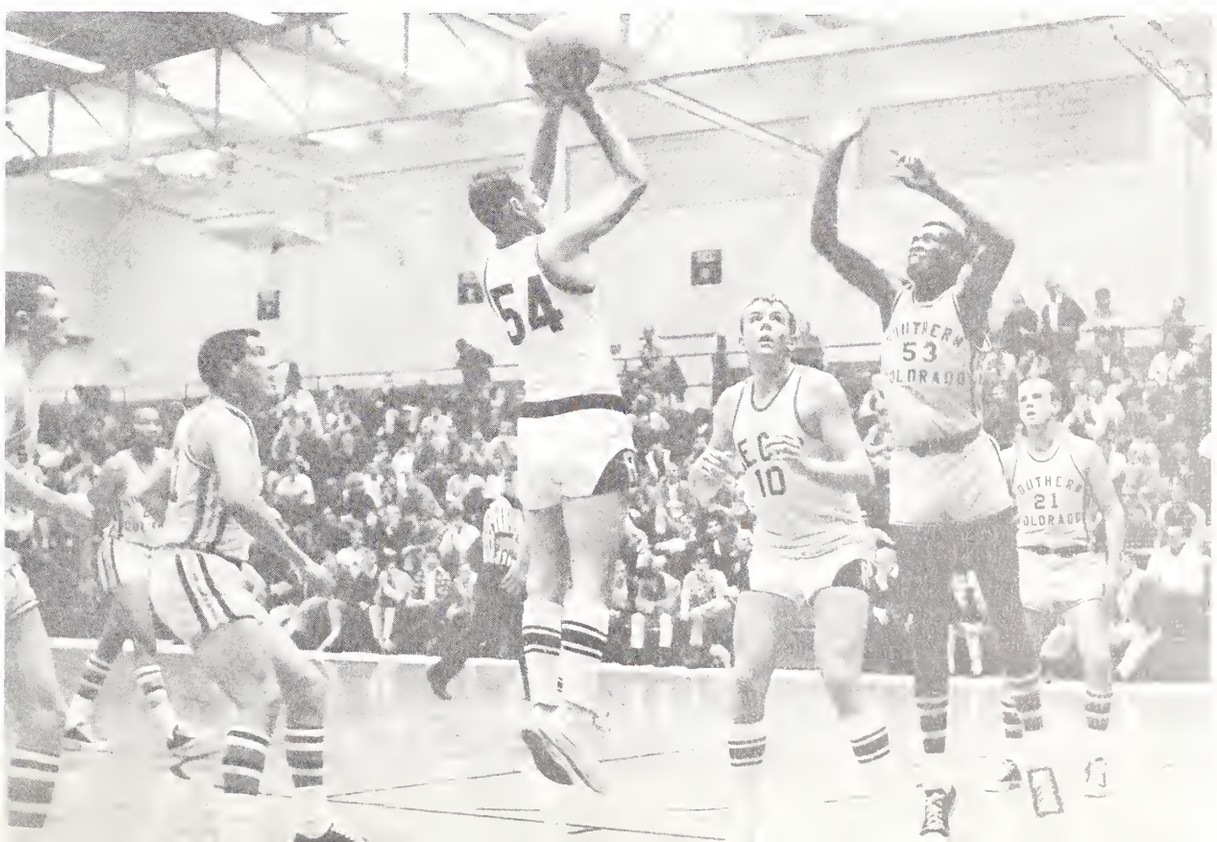


It's a real battle for the rebound.



Wille scores for the Rangers.

Kostiuk goes up for a shot in another losing effort.



Moments to remember in the high country

Ranger Skiing

If two words were needed to summarize this year's Regis Ski Team, they would be depth and progress. This year, due to the added spirit engendered by the team within the student body and administration, Regis has seen a young, powerful, and dedicated team. Under the leadership of Coach Steve Grande and team Captain Bob Buckley, the team has progressed quite substantially.

Sophomores Bob Alexander, Ted Schmiedeke, Jim O'Keefe, Edwin Doerr and Mike Kleineider filled out the rest of the team.

"Exciting action for the Regis ski team"

Nick Hilt dives for the Rangers.

Ranger Swimming

The Regis tankmen, this year coached by Alan Hodges, showed a definite improvement over the team of 1964-65. The Team showed more poise, depth, and speed than had been previously witnessed on the Regis scene.

Basically a young team, backed by returning lettermen Steve Zibby, Ted Beringer, Phil Murphy, Mike Hacke, and Dave Opsahl the team shows a chance for real swimming prowess in the next few years. Congratulations for fine performances should be extended to Ted Berringer and Bob Toll.

FRONT ROW: Coach: A. Hodges, S. Zibby, N. Hilt, R. Toll, T. Beringer. BACK ROW: M. Hacke, P. Murphy, R. Gillard, D. Opsahl.

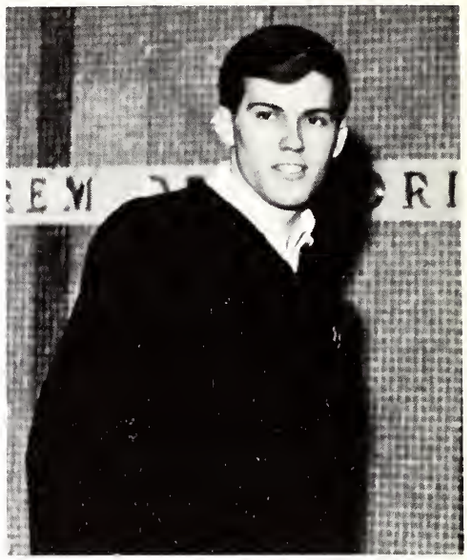
THE RANGER

Regis College
Denver, Colorado 80221



The Time Has Come

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
To talk of many things . . . of shoes . . .
of ships . . . and sealing wax . . .
of cabbages, and kings . . . ."

And so the time has come, the deadlines have all been met, and the new '66 RANGER is now in your hands. With this the last page of the book, we not only close the cover to the annual, but also, for some of us, we close our college careers. And although our formal education ends, as do these last words, I hope that we will continue our search for knowledge, our desire for love, and our happiness with God. What we have come to learn during our four years here at Regis may we continue to pursue through our lifetime. Regis has done about as much as one could expect . . . the rest is up to us. Our life is but what we make of it. We have succeeded during these four years of college, so there is no reason why we should not succeed from now on.

And so may this 1966 RANGER serve to ever remind us of Regis and what it has been able to do for us. I hope that we of the RANGER have been able to present you with a complete and rewarding remembrance of your years wisely spent here. I hope that we have fashioned a yearbook that is not just an ordinary yearbook, but rather, one that we always will be proud to show to friends and say, "Here is Regis College, which has given me four of the most memorable years of my life." If we will be able to say that, then I know that I and my staff have succeeded and have fashioned and created a small token of a fantastic experience.

You know, yearbook deadlines are much like theater performances; just when it looks impossible to get everything finished, it's done. And every deadline did look impossible right up to the last minute. But a yearbook just doesn't put itself together, there is a core of hard working people behind it. And so it's on this one last page that the editor leaves his personal thoughts — thoughts of gratitude for those dedicated and talented people who built this yearbook with him, thoughts of frustration at not having completely realized the mental image of this book formulated during the previous summer's months, and thoughts of pride in the 280 pages which his friends tell him were "nicely done." It is to these people that credit goes for the 1966 RANGER.

I offer my sincerest congratulations to all of the Section Editors: to Tim Hoffman, who expertly revealed the College Life section and succeeded in a most difficult task; to Dave Thomas, in the Activities section, a fine job; to the one responsible for the greatest number of pages, Dick Bowles and his excellent work on the Classes; to Greg Peterman for his imaginative changes in the presentation of the faculty; to John Huston, who is responsible for showing Regis in Action in the Sports section; and to Mike Campbell for his excellent work with the advertising pages. And also to two other members of the Editorial Board goes my deep appreciation: my editorial assistant, Tom Geib, who never complained about anything which he was asked to do, and my business manager, Mike Conway, who felt the responsibility at both the start and the end of the school year.

The large responsibility falls on the photography staff, which includes Joe O'Dorisio, Len Ellis, Kevin Leahy, Ton Coursey, Bill Abbey and Walt Sadowski, to all of whom I'm deeply indebted. To editorial assistants Rick Pomphrey and Pat Keniry, and copy editor Frank Ortolani goes my sincere appreciation. My staff members who do so much work but never receive credit, I would like to mention and thank: John Wodniak, Greg Lauby, Tom Steck, Rob Stuart, Jay Joy, Dave Close, Steve Hodes, John Wick, Mike Zastrocky, Greg Stutz, Pat Gartland, and John Remark.

A very special thanks to Father Maginnis as moderator, who guided me through many a crisis and proved to be a true friend. And special thanks also to Mr. Tony Darnell, representative of our publishing firm and photographer extraordinar, for his tireless effort, advice and work that he has given to this 1966 RANGER. And also my deep gratitude to Mr. Phil Gauthier for his professional advice and effort.

And so, with this the school year is behind us. For many, a new life beckons; for others, college days continue. For all, the 1966 RANGER will relive the memories which should not be forgotten but should be treasured as part of the growth of each man.

A fond farewell,

J. V. Doering
